

Police Person of the Year

Police Area Executive Officer Wendy Wrigley

The hard work police do in the community was recognized on Wednesday 2nd May 2018 at the Rotorua Police Pay Parade. Held at the Rotorua Lakes Council Chambers, the ceremony honoured the long service and commitment officers had shown.

This year the recipient of the Rotary Club of Rotorua Police Person of the Year Award is Police Area Executive Officer Wendy Wrigley. This award is presented annually to recognize consistent, outstanding service to the community and working above and beyond the expected standard.

The recipient is chosen by a panel of judges which included Mayor Steve Chadwick and President of the Rotary Club of Rotorua, Russell Burton, from community nominations. President Russell presented Wendy Wrigley with the Rotorua Police Person of the Year Award for her “Dedication to the Community”

On Monday 28th May, 2018, Wendy spoke to the Club about her life both in and out of the N.Z. Police. As an unsworn police officer, she is responsible for the administrative and support services at the Rotorua Police Station and is certainly appreciated by all who work with her.
